

About Shirin Paulino

Shirin Paulino is a dynamic actress based in Los Angeles, where she has lived for the past 24 years. Currently studying Theatre Arts at Santa Monica College, Shirin has been dedicated to the craft of performance since 2011. Her stage credits include The River Rivanna, Romeo and Juliet, and, most recently, Dara, a historical drama set in the Mughal Empire.

In addition to her acting work, Shirin has a background in costume design and dance, skills that further her creative versatility on stage. She has also been featured in L.A. Weekly, collaborated with Max Mara, and appeared in several fashion shows, showcasing her wide range of artistic expression.

Known for her caring nature and vibrant energy, Shirin is described by those close to her as dependable, loyal, and a joy to work with. She continues to seek new opportunities to expand her knowledge, always eager to bring compelling stories to life both on stage and soon, on screen.